

Guidelines for Dress Code Etiquette

Objective:

As Brand Ambassadors of the Saint-Gobain Group, we, the employees, play an important part in projecting its image to the external and internal stakeholders. In order to maintain a professional work environment, we need to present ourselves in a manner that conveys respect, confidence and pride in our organization. We expect that one shall adhere to the following Dress Code Etiquette while representing the organization, whether inside or outside the office premises when on official duty. This policy is intended to define appropriate “Business Attire” during normal business operations and “Casual Business Attire” on Thursdays & Fridays.

Applicability:

This policy is applicable to all the Employees of INDEC, which includes INDEC - Infra and INDEC - Apps.

Policy Guidelines:

During business hours or when representing INDEC, employees are expected to present a clean, neat and tasteful appearance. Professional judgement dictates what is considered acceptable attire for conducting business. In all cases, all garments should be clean, un-torn and wrinkle free.

Monday through Sunday:

- For Men: Formal attire for men includes full / half-sleeved shirt, formal trousers / chinos, and formal shoes with socks. Formal trousers may also be replaced with a pair of jeans on Thursdays / Fridays.
Inappropriate dressing for men includes sweatpants, torn jeans with excess wear, form-fitting pants, T-shirts without collars, and broad belts with fancy buckles.
- For Women: Should be appropriately dressed in Sarees, Salwar / Churidar suits or western formals like trouser / skirts / crop pants with formal shirts and suitable footwear. Sleeveless tops are also permitted. Salwar / Churidar / Trousers may be replaced with a pair of jeans on Thursdays / Fridays.
Inappropriate dressing for women includes, torn jeans with excess wear, short skirt, Capri, form fitting short tops, cold shoulder tops, broad fancy belts with fancy buckles.

Thursday / Friday:

- For Men: Business / Semi-casual attire like Jeans, T-shirts (with collar) & sports shoes / loafers (formal slip-on shoes without laces).
Inappropriate dressing includes printed round / V-neck T-shirts, shorts, torn jeans and hipster jeans.
- For Women: Casual Trousers, Jeans, Kurtis, Casual Blouses, Casual Skirts & Dresses, and Sweaters. Choice of semi-formal / casual footwear should be appropriate for office environment.
Inappropriate dressing includes printed round neck T-shirts, shorts, torn jeans, fitted short tops/blouses & capri.

Other guidelines:

- Slippers / Floaters are not allowed during any days for men & women. Women may wear sandals.
- Men need to be clean-shaven or wear a well-trimmed beard on all days.
- Managers should ensure that team members project a professional image during onsite/customer visits
- Friday attire also extended for teams on night shifts / weekends and / holidays, provided they are not attending any customer meetings OR visiting any client / stakeholder
- Please note that the ‘Inappropriate dressing’ list is an indicative and not an exhaustive list – one needs to exercise judgement and discretion to ensure that your attire projects a professional image.
